Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

DETAILED ACTION

The final rejection mailed on December 1, 2006 has been withdrawn because of new art found. The non final action that follows below are directed towards the claims filed on March 8, 2007.

Claim Status

Claims 3-19 are pending. Claims 11-19 are withdrawn from further consideration.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 3-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Claes et al. (WO 98/20802)

Claes et al. disclose an external fixation device comprising a first portion (10) and a second portion (11) with a first and second clamp assembly (15) for releasably attaching the respective first and second portions with at least one bone pin (4) and a coupling assembly (12) joining the first and second portion. This coupling assembly can be controlled for incremental rotation in the horizontal plane independent of rotation in the vertical plane and incremental rotation in the vertical plane is independent of rotation in the horizontal plane. The first and second portions are elongated and have generally rectangular cross sections with their respective lengths being substantially the same. Also disclosed are a first control and a second control for incremental positioning of the first and second clamp assembly relative to the coupling assembly, independent of the other clamp. Claes et al. also disclose a first worm gear mounted on one end of the first portion, a second worm gear mounted on an adjacent end of the second portion, with the first and the second worm gears being engaged with each other. The first worm shaft is operable to incrementally position the first worm gear and a second worm shaft operable to incrementally position the second worm gear. Also disclosed is a first clamp screw (25) operable to lock the first worm gear in a desired position relative to the first position while a second clamp screw (27) is operable to lock the second worm gear in a desired position relative to the second portion. With regard the statement of intended use and other functional statements; they do not impose any structural limitations on the claims distinguishable over Claes et al. which is capable of being used as claimed if one so desires to do so. In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). Furthermore, the law of anticipation does not require that the reference "teach" what the subject patent teaches, but rather it is only necessary that the claims under attack "read on" something in the reference. Kalman v. Kimberly Clark Corp., 218 USPQ 781 (CCPA 1983). Furthermore, the manner in which a device is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 3-10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See PTO-892 for art cited of interest.
